DISC Archiving Systems Newsletter

March 2011

Dear Customer and Partner,

DISC recently participated at CeBIT-2011 in Hannover, Germany and are to happy to announce the support and release of our new 100GB-based Blu-ray archival storage library products. DISC is now taking our show "On the Road" in the U.S. and looking forward to seeing you at one of the upcoming events in Las Vegas, USA.

ISC West: April 6-8
The largest US Security Exhibit
Booth# 10055

NAB Show: April 11-14
Where Content Comes To Life
Booth# SL10607

Focus 2011: April 17-20
FiServ Electronic Banking Conference

We look forward to an opportunity to meet with you to discuss your organization's archival storage needs and how DISC Archiving Systems is prepared to help you meet your long-term data archival challenges.

With the continuous growth in digital data, the need for cost effective, compliant long-term archiving, as well as the rising cost of energy, DISC BD-Series of automated Blu-ray libraries are ideally suited to capitalize on these and other industry trends to deliver a truly sustainable, secure, long-term storage solution... all at a fraction of the cost of traditional replicated RAID storage technologies.

If you need a complimentary Exhibit pass to ISC-West or NAB, please contact us for additional information. Although we look forward to seeing you in April at one of these events, but if you are unable to attend, please feel free to contact us to explore how the DISC Blu-ray archival library solutions may be able to assist you. For more details, please visit the events page on our website..

Best Regards,

Mark Brown, VP Sales North-America
